Prospective borrowers who are not members of the Anthroposophical Society are asked to furnish proof of address and the signature of a referee. This should be a responsible person such as a course tutor or principal, or a potential passport signatory, or a member of the Anthroposophical Society who has known the borrower for at least six months.

Five books may be borrowed at any time for one month initially. A longer loan may be requested for books for study purposes. A postal service also operates with a charge for postage and packing.

All books are to be returned by the due date. Lost or damaged books will incur a replacement charge.
